Aquarion Again Offers Free Fishing Permits for the Unemployed

For the second consecutive year, Aquarion Water Company is issuing free fishing permits to three of its area reservoirs for people over age 18 who are out of work.

On Wednesday, April 21 and 28, anglers can go to Aquarion's Aspetuck Environmental Center at 714 Black Rock Road, Easton, and present official proof of unemployment, along with a valid Connecticut fishing license, to receive the permit. Then they will be able to fish along designated shorelines of the company's Saugatuck Reservoir in Weston, Far Mill Reservoir in Shelton, and West Pequonnock Reservoir in Monroe. Permits to fish in those reservoirs usually cost $25.

"Looking for work can be a tough, full-time job," said Charles V. Firlotte, Aquarion President and CEO. "We'd like to make it a little easier for people to relax after a day of pounding the pavement to find a new job"

Aquarion will issue the free permits between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. For more information about the company's fishing programs and other recreational opportunities, visit the www.aquarionwater.com or call the environmental center at (203) 452-3511.

Aquarion Water Company serves 580,000 people in 39 communities throughout Connecticut. It is among the seven largest investor-owned water utility companies in the U.S., and the largest in New England.
