Aquarion Water Co. announces watering ban for all Litchfield customers

Due to increased water usage in Litchfield, combined with reduced water supply capacity, effective immediately, the Connecticut Department of Public Health has declared a water supply emergency that has resulted in the need to issue an outdoor watering ban for all Aquarion Water Company customers in Litchfield.

Implementing the ban at this time will allow Aquarion to repair a well that is one of Litchfield's key water supplies.

The ban will be in effect until further notice, and customers will be notified when it is lifted.

During this period, Aquarion customers must refrain from all outdoor watering of landscaping, car washing, and any other outdoor uses.

Aquarion Water Company serves approximately 580,000 people in 39 communities throughout Connecticut. It is among the seven largest investor-owned water utility companies in the U.S., and the largest in New England.
