Aquarion Water Company Employees Honored at Annual Water Works Conference

Bedford Hills' David Medd and Newtown's Len DeJong recognized for service and commitment to CWWA

BRIDGEPORT, CONN. – July 16, 2012 – Aquarion Water Company's David Medd and Len DeJong were recently honored at the Connecticut Chapter of the American Water Works Association (CTAWWA) and Connecticut Water Works Association (CWWA) Annual Conference.

Medd and DeJong were recognized at the conference for their service and commitment to the CWWA.

“We are proud of David and Len for their continued service to Aquarion and their dedicated support to the water industry as a whole,” Aquarion President and CEO Charles V. Firlotte said. “Aquarion appreciates CWWA's recognition of their efforts and hard work.”

Medd, Manager of Greenwich Supply Operations at Aquarion, served on CWWA's Board of Directors for eleven years and continues to work the organization's Legislative Committee.

DeJong, Manager of Watershed and Environmental Management at Aquarion, served on the CTAWWA Board of Directors as its International Director and Chairman and facilitated the start-up of the organization's Water For People Committee, serving as its first Chair. He was also recently appointed to the CWWA Board as a Director.

Through its 23 committees, CTAWWA serves as a resource and training source in matters pertaining to technical and water utility operating needs. Its state counterpart, CWWA, provides a critical link to Connecticut government on water industry legislative and regulatory affairs.
